

Layer cake

Knowing how to layer can prevent you from looking like the Michelin Man—and keep you comfy and cozy on days when the temps are all over the place.

Layering a tunic over leggings is hardly rocket science (although it is brilliant). Adding the cream long-sleeve gives a little extra flair.

TUNIC Ripe Limited $112 TOP Zoe b $62 at euphoriamaternity.com LEGGINGS Cotton-Glam $42 BOOTS Softh $184

Wrap tops may seem like they're tough to work with when it comes to layering, but this one offers so many wrapping options you'll be amazed at its versatility.

NECKLACE Iia sophia $68 TOP Isabella Oliver $130 TOP Boob Maternity & Nursing $70 SKIRT Due Maternity $88 BOOTS Taryn by Taryn Rose $185

Layering for the weekend means you can shed a jacket when you need to chill or pull it all together when you want to dress to impress.

WRAP Isabella Oliver $195 HOODIE Ripe Maternity Wear $90 CAMI Liz Large for Target $10 JEANS James Jeans $181 SHOES Cole Haan $275 BAG Alina Trezzese $1750

A pop of color keeps a hoodie looking chic.

HOODIE Dian $75 TEE Ripe Maternity Wear $89 PANTS Sche Hawaii $70 LOAFERS Matisse $110 at onlineshoes.com

Try to stick to natural fibers that breathe, thin layers that don't pack on false pounds and a palette that blends.

Hanging out

It's a story as old as time: girl meets boy, girl and boy fall in love, girl gets pregnant and never leaves the house again. OK, so maybe that's a little extreme, but it's certainly understandable that as your belly gets bigger, your motivation to be out and about dwindles. As long as you're clocking in more hours at the old homestead, you might as well make your nest as comfy and accommodating to your newly precarious state as possible. After all, home is where the bed is!

If you've ever asked, "Why don't they make this baby blanket in my size?," you're in luck—they do! This cozy blanket is the perfect throw for snuggling on the couch, catching up on your favorite shows.

Softest Blanket, Ever $170

If you're spending more time than usual at your humble abode, it should at least smell fabulous—opt for a clean, non-nausea-inducing scent and light up!

Jo Malone $65

The soothing lavender scent of this neck wrap and bootie set will allow you to steal moments of relaxation all day long.

Red Envelope $58

look good, feel good

You can be cute and comfy in this chic dress with room to grow. And hey, if you don't make it into proper pj's before hitting the sack, no one will be the wiser!

Sche Heron $100

If you need a little extra belly support, this band might just do the trick—and it's perfect for holding together too big (or can't-quite-zip) pants.

Ingrid & Isabel $26 at babycenter.com

Ankles swollen? Soak your tootsies in a relaxing foot bath and feel your aches and pains drift away.

Conair $50 at drugstore.com